Episode.7 [Within the Cocoon I]

FOR THE ETERNAL GLORY...

...OF OUR HOMELAND...

A detailed illustration of a large, multi-segmented futuristic ship docked at a space station. The ship has a complex, angular design with various protrusions and sensors. It is positioned within a large, open bay of the station, which has a metallic, industrial appearance. The ship is oriented horizontally, with its bow facing right.

WELCOME IN,
CRUISER ASWAN.

An aerial, top-down view of a colony. The colony is a dense, irregular cluster of buildings and structures, with a mix of rectangular and circular shapes. A prominent road or canal runs diagonally through the center of the colony. The surrounding area is a mix of light and dark shading, suggesting a hazy or atmospheric environment. The colony is located on a planet's surface, with some terrain features visible.

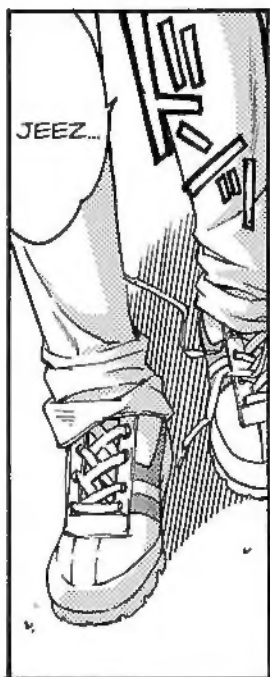

SIDE I
COLONY 25

A large, humanoid robot stands in the foreground of a colony. The robot has a boxy, mechanical design with a large head, a rectangular torso, and thick, jointed limbs. It is holding a large, rectangular object in its right arm. The robot is standing on a paved surface next to a building with a textured wall. In the background, there are various structures and equipment, including what looks like a large antenna or sensor array. The scene is set in a colony, with a mix of industrial and residential buildings.
